Chun Wo Wins “HKMA Award for Excellence in Training and Development”

[Hong Kong, 9 October, 2013] Chun Wo Development Holdings Limited is pleased to announce that the Group has received the “HKMA Award for Excellence in Training and Development” (Development Category – Gold Award) for its “Elite Programme” for engineering graduates this year.

Chun Wo Human Resources Manager, Ms. Sanlies Lo stated, “we aim to assist our staff to discover their own potentials and sponsor their further education as part of our ‘Continuity’ core value. For fresh graduates, we not only offer specific ‘Graduate Engineer Training Program’, but also set up the ‘Elite Program’ as a ladder to develop ‘grassroot leaders’ for Chun Wo, also to develop young professionals and maintain the growth momentum of the company with leaders who have risen through the ranks within the company.”

This 7-year training programme is a pioneer in the industry, with a training system in specific technologies, management skills and personal development. The Group also established other staff training programmes such as “Technical Mentoring Program”, “Site Agent Development Program”, and “Direct Labour Scheme”, to enhance the safety knowledge and technical skills of frontline staff.

Ms. Sanlies Lo said, “To complement the training programmes, Chun Wo provides different communication platforms to encourage staff to openly express their opinion to management through meetings and the intranet. On the other hand, we also believe in work-life balance, in which we organize recreation activities such as sports competitions, interest classes and corporate events whereby staff can bond with their colleagues to reinforce the corporate spirit of the Chun Wo Family.”

The Hong Kong Management Association (HKMA) has been giving out annual awards for Excellence in Training and Development to recognize enterprises with excellent training programs and long-term strategies for staff development.
